Dear General Donovan,

I want to reiterate what I said to you this morning - that I am not trying to transfer from artillery to intelligence to land myself a desk job somewhere. I feel that I have qualifications which would be used to better advantage in intelligence work than in artillery. I also feel that intelligence would be much more interesting for me, and that I would have something to offer it. At any rate, here is the information I promised you about my experience to date:

At prep school I has been properly appraised.

Many, many thanks for your kindness in this matter.

Sincerely,

STATINTL
